The compiler of this Hyde Genealogy has attempted, what he believes has not before been done in the United States. That is, to trace out the descendants of one of the Pilgrim Fathers of New England, down to the present time, in the female lines as well as in the male lines; embracing in most cases seven or eight generations, and some times more, from William Hyde their common ancestor. And he has succeeded far beyond what he had any reason to expect when he commenced the arduous task.

He has generally not only ascertained the names of these descendants, but also their places of residence, with the dates of their births, marriages and deaths; and the names of the husbands and wives of such of them as have married. In many cases he has also been able to trace back the ancestry of such husband or wife to the first European settlers of America, and in some cases to the nobility of England, and to its Norman and Anglo-Saxon kings, and to the blood royal of Scotland, France, Spain, Germany, &c.

The compiler has in many instances been able to collect and record facts in relation to the ancestry, in this country, of many of his relatives of the Hyde blood, which render a descent from such ancestors far more honorable than a descent from kings or emperors. For those facts show a descent, in many cases, from some of the wisest, the best, the most pious, the most talented and the most patriotic of our own country.

Those who have compiled genealogies of the descendants who retained the original family name of the common ancestor, have always found it difficult to trace out the descendants of those who in early life removed to a distant part of the country from their domicile of origin. For the town and church records at the place of birth, or of marriage, seldom show to what places such removals were made. But the identity of the family name generally enables the persevering genealogist to trace out their descendants bearing the original family name. The difficulty is very greatly increased, where descendants of females, who by marriage have changed the family name, are to be traced out. And the compiler in many instances, after the most diligent inquiries and careful investigation, found it impossible to trace out and ascertain such descendants.

Again: the registers of marriages, as usually kept by town clerks and by clergymen, very seldom, if ever, have an index to them under the family names of the wives; but the index only refers to the family name of the husband. And the registers of births very frequently mention only the family name of the father of the child, with the Christian name of the mother; without her maiden or family name. Even where the family name of the mother of the child is given in the registry of births, if there is more than one female residing at the same place and of about the same age and having the same Christian and the same family name, it is very difficult to determine the identity of the wife in ancient records. The compiler therefore will be disappointed if it does not turn out that in some cases he has made a mistake in relation to the parentage of the wife in this genealogy. And in some instances he may have mistaken the parentage of the husband. But he has generally been able to test the identity of the parties to a marriage, and of the parents of a child by inscriptions on grave-stones, records in family Bibles, and by information derived from descendants, or from collateral relatives; so that he trusts but few mistakes of this kind have occurred. Where he had some doubt as to the identity, he has inserted the word probably in the record.

Where the compiler could not obtain the particulars of a family, from records or monuments, or from the father or mother, or one of the children of such family, he has been obliged to rely upon information derived from collateral relatives and other sources. And many of the dates of births, marriages and deaths will unquestionably be found not to be entirely correct. For he has frequently discovered that the dates of births and marriages, upon the town records and upon the church records, in family Bibles and in the inscriptions upon tomb-stones, &c., do not agree with each other. Fathers very frequently make mistakes in giving the dates of the births of their children, where they do not refer to written memoranda; but mothers very seldom make such mistakes. The dates in this genealogy, with the exception of a few typographical errors, will generally be found sufficiently correct for all useful purposes. Several typographical errors in dates and some in names, are noticed in the errata printed at the end of the second volume.

The compiler regrets that some of his relatives, to whom he sent circulars requesting information respecting their families, have taken so little interest in the subject as to neglect to answer. Many others to whom he sent circulars probably never received them, owing to changes of residence, deaths, &c. Generally, he has reason to thank his relatives of the Hyde blood for furnishing him with the desired information so far as they were able to do it. Where he could not get the desired information from those who were best able to give it, he has endeavored to obtain it from other sources as far as was practicable.

The compiler has been able to persuade a few of his relatives of the Hyde blood, to furnish engraved likenesses to embellish a work upon which he has bestowed so much labor. And he would have been pleased if he could have obtained many more, especially the likenesses of some of the many beautiful female descendants of his ancestor. He was particularly anxious to obtain, and preserve in the work, the likenesses of Matthew Griswold, LL. D., Chief Justice and Governor of Connecticut; of Roger Griswold, LL. D., Judge of the Supreme Court and Governor of Connecticut; of Major General Samuel Holden Parsons of the army of the Revolution; of John Milton Niles, U. S. Senator and Post Master General; of the late Edward Dorr Griffin, D. D., President of Williams College; of the late Samuel Dickenson Hubbard, LL. D., Post Master General; of the late Rev. Edward Robinson, LL. D. of New York, the distinguished Oriental Scholar; of the late James Hillhouse, LL. D. of New Haven, U. S. Senator; of the late Oliver Hillhouse Prince, U. S. Senator from Georgia; of the late William Woodbridge, U. S. Senator and Governor of Michigan; of the late Albert

Haller Tracy, the distinguished Statesman of Buffalo; a Charles Johnson McCurdy of Lyme, Minister to Austria and of the Superior Court of Conn. But he did not succeed in obtaining the likeness of any of these.

He now submits the work to those for whose use and information it has been prepared; expecting no remuneration for his labor and expenses, except the pleasure he has derived by becoming acquainted with so many of his kindred, and that which he hopes hereafter to receive from their approval of the Hyde Genealogy.

He takes this occasion to acknowledge his especial indebtedness to several individuals, who have greatly aided him in obtaining materials for the work.

HYDE GENEALOGY.

[I. WILLIAM HYDE (1) the first, of Norwich, is not certainly known to have been connected with any of the Hyde families who came to this country from England, of which there were several in the United States. Among other families of that name were the following:

1. Samuel Hyde, who came to Newton, Mass., about 1640, and has many descendants.

2. Jonathan Hyde, his younger brother, who m. 1 Mary French, and 2 Mary Rediat, and had 19 children. He was the grandfather of Jonathan Hyde who settled at Pomfret, Conn., in 1714, and had 6 sons; and who was probably the ancestor of most of the Pomfret and Canterbury Hydes, whose descendants are now extensively scattered in different parts of the U. S. He was the ancestor of the Rev. Ephraim Hyde who grad. at Yale, 1759, and was minister of Rehoboth, and of the venerable Dr. John Angier Hyde, a distinguished physician of Freeport, Me., who was living in 1856, at the advanced age of 84 years.

3. Humphrey Hyde, who came from Eng., and was an extensive land holder at Fairfield, Conn., in 1655. He made his will 8 May, 1666, devising divers tracts of land to his son John, and to his daus. Hannah and Sarah. His son John Hyde, who d. 1689, at Fairfield, had by his wife Elizabeth one son and three daus. He was the ancestor of the late Thomas S. Jesup, quarter master general of the

U. S. A.; of Samuel Burr Sherwood of Westport, Conn., who grad. at Yale in 1786, and was a member of congress; of Sarah Sherwood, wife of the late Gov. Bissell of Conn.; and of Rachel Hyde, wife of Judge Ebenezer Andrews of Milan, O., who grad. at Yale in 1817.

4. John Hyde of Richmond, Va., who came to America about 1750, and has descendants in various parts of the Union.

The name of William Hyde (1), first appears at Hartford, Conn., in 1636. And his name is on the monument in the old cemetery at that place as one of the original settlers; and he had lands assigned to him there.

Many families of the name of Hyde had been settled in different parts of England for five or six hundred years prior to the settlement of New England. One of the name, Sir Nicholas Hyde, was chief justice of the court of King's Bench in 1626; another, Sir Robert Hyde, was chief justice of the court of common pleas in 1660. And a third, Sir Edward Hyde, afterwards the Earl of Clarendon, was lord chancellor at the restoration, 1660; and was the grandfather of Queen Mary the 2d, and Queen Ann, and of Edward Hyde, Lord Cornbury, who was one of the provincial governors of New York.

William Hyde (1) the first of Norwich, was a cotemporary of Sir Robert Hyde and of the Earl of Clarendon; but was undoubtedly of humbler origin. I have not been able to ascertain from what part of England he came; to what family he belonged; or where he first landed in this country, or the precise time when he arrived here. He probably, however, came over in 1633, with the Rev. Thomas Hooker, the first minister of Hartford; sojourned a short time at Newton, Mass., and removed with him to Hartford, in 1636. The time of his removal to Saybrook, is not ascertained, but he owned lands in Hartford as late as 1639. He probably went to Saybrook soon after that, and his dau. was m. there early in 1652. No information has been obtained as to the name of his wife, or when or where she died. From the age of the son when he died (forty), he must have been b. in 1636. His mother was of course then living, and probably died at Hartford or Saybrook, before the removal of her husband to Norwich; as no account of her death is found upon the Norwich records. The daughter either was born in England, or was married very young; the date of her birth, or her age at the time of her death in 1703, have not been ascertained.

Norwich was settled in 1660. The 35 original proprietors of that town were the Rev. James Fitch, the first minister of that place; Major John Mason, afterwards Lieut. Gov. of Connecticut; Lieut. Thomas Leffingwell; Lieut. Thomas Tracy, and his eldest son, John Tracy; Deacon Thomas Adgate; Christopher Huntington, and his brother, Deacon Simon Huntington; Ensign Thomas Waterman; William Hyde, and his son, Samuel Hyde, and his son-in-law, John Post; Thomas Post; Lieut. William Backus, and his brother, Stephen Backus; Deacon Hugh Calkins, and his son, John Calkins, and his son-in-law, Jonathan Royce; John Reynolds; Thomas Bliss; Francis Griswold; John Birchard; Robert Wade; Morgan Bowers; John Gager; Thomas Howard; Dr. John Olmstead; Nehemiah Smith; Richard Edgerton; John Elderkin; John Bradford; Thomas Bingham; Robert Allen; John Baldwin, and John Pease. Most of these original proprietors of Norwich were from Saybrook, and East Saybrook (now Lyme). Hugh Calkins, and his son and son-in-law, and John Pease, John Gager, Nehemiah Smith, and Robert Allen, were from New London. Thomas Waterman, and John Bradford, were from Marshfield, Mass.

William Hyde was a man of considerable importance among the settlers of Norwich, and was frequently elected as one of the townsmen, or selectmen. He d. at Norwich 6 January, 1681. His home lot was devised to his grandson, William Hyde (6) the second. And a part of it was owned by William Mansfield, a descendant of the latter; and was occupied by him as the site of his dwelling-house in 1859.

The children of William Hyde were :

2. Samuel, b. about 1637, at Hartford, m. Jane Lee.†
3. Hester, b. prob. in England, m. John Post.†

SECOND GENERATION.

II. SAMUEL HYDE (2), born at Hartford, Conn., about 1637, only son of the first William Hyde of Norwich, m. in June, 1659, Jane Lee of East Saybrook (now Lyme). She was the dau. of Thomas Lee and — Brown, his wife.

[This Thomas Lee came from England in 1641, with his wife and three children. He d. on the passage; and his widow and children came to Saybrook. The first

Thomas Lee of Lyme was a brother of Jane, wife of this Samuel Hyde. And Sarah Lee, who m. John Large of Lyme, and settled on Long Island, was their sister.]

Samuel Hyde (2) and his wife came to Norwich in 1660. Their eldest dau., Elizabeth, born in August of that year, was the first white child born in Norwich. He was a farmer, and had lands assigned to him at Norwich West Farms, where he d. in 1677, at the age of 40 years. And John Birchard became the guardian of his children, who were all minors at that time. The date of his wife's death is not ascertained.

Their children were :

4. Samuel, b. in May, 1665, at Norwich, m. Elizabeth Calkins.†
5. John, b. in Dec., 1667, at Norwich, m. Experience Abel.†
6. William, b. in Jan., 1670, at Norwich, m. Anne Bushnell.†
7. Thomas, b. in July, 1672, at Norwich, m. Mary Backus.†
8. Jabez, b. in May, 1677, at Norwich, m. Elizabeth Bushnell.†
9. Elizabeth, b. in Aug., 1660, at Norwich, m. Lieut. Richard Lord.†
10. Phebe, b. in Jan., 1663, at Norwich, m. Matthew Griswold.†
11. Sarah, b. in Feb., 1675, d. the same year.

II. HESTER (Esther) HYDE (3), the daughter of William Hyde the first of Norwich, was probably b. in England. She m. in March, 1652, at Saybrook, John Post, b. about 1627, in Eng., son of Stephen Post, who was at Newtown 1634, removed to Hartford 1636, and d. 16 Aug., 1659, at Saybrook. [Stephen Post had three sons and one dau. John who m. Hester Hyde; Thomas who m., 1, Mary Andrews, and 2, Rebecca Bruen of Norwich; Abraham who m. and remained at Saybrook; and Catherine whom., 1649, Alexander Chalker of Saybrook.] John Post and wife settled at Saybrook, where their four eldest children were born. They removed to Norwich in 1660. His home lot was on the opposite side of the street from that of his father-in-law, William Hyde, and was, in 1858, in the possession of two of his descendants, the widow, Lucretia Carew, and her daughter, the widow of Roswell Morgan, Esq. Mr. Post was an active, influential man in the town. His wife d. at Norwich, 13 November, 1703. He survived her, and d. there 10 February, 1711, aged 83, and is buried in the old cemetery near the church at Norwich Town.

Their children were :

13. John, b. 12 April, 1657, at Saybrook, m. Sarah Reynolds.†

14. Samuel, b. 8 March, 1668, at Norwich, m. Ruth Lathrop.†
15. Margaret, b. 21 Feb., 1653, at Saybrook, m. Caleb Abel.†
16. Elizabeth, b. 22 Feb., 1655, at Saybrook. I have not been able to trace her further. She probably died unmarried.
17. Sarah, b. 6 Nov., 1659, at Saybrook, m. Capt. John Hough.†
18. Mary, b. , 1662, at Norwich, m. Nathaniel Rudd.†
19. Abigail, b. 6 Nov., 1664, at Norwich, d. in April, 1676.
20. Hannah, b. Oct., 1671, at Norwich. She probably died unm.
21. Lydia, b. 11 March, 1674, at Norwich. She m., 1, Abel Moore of New London, and 2, Joseph Harris of New London, and probably died s. p.

What renders it almost certain that three of the seven daughters of Hester Hyde and John Post must have died previously to 18 of Jan., 1686, and probably unmarried, is that by a deed of that date, upon the Windham records, it appears that William Hyde willed to the daughters of his only daughter, Hester Post, certain lands in Windham. That a controversy arose between the eldest son of her brother and the devisees, in relation to the validity of this will; and that a compromise took place between him and the three sons-in-law of Hester Hyde and John Post; Caleb Abel, John Hough, and Nathaniel Rudd. And by their deed the latter three conveyed, to the said oldest son of Samuel Hyde the first, one-half of the lands in dispute, in compromise of his claim. And no mention is made of any other granddaughters of the testator, as being in existence, to make any claim to the lands under the will devising the same to the daughters of the testator's daughter, Hester Post.

THIRD GENERATION.

III. SAMUEL HYDE (4), born at Norwich, Conn., in May, 1665, the eldest son of Samuel Hyde (2) and Jane Lee, was a grandson of the first William Hyde of Norwich. He m. 10 Dec., 1690, Elizabeth Calkins, b. April, 1673, daughter of John Calkins and Sarah his wife of Norwich.

[This John Calkins was one of the original proprietors of Norwich, and was son of Hugh Calkins, b. 1600 at Chepstone, England, who emigrated to this country from Monmouthshire about 1640, and settled at Marshfield, Mass.; and after residing at Lynn, Gloucester, and at New London for several years, finally settled at Norwich in 1660, and frequently represented the town in the general court. His wife's name was Ann; and he d. in 1690. See Cuulkins's New London, 158.]

Samuel Hyde is described in an early entry in the Norwich records as being of Windham. But he removed from there to Lebanon, where he d. 6 November, 1742; and in 1743, Hempstead says, "his widow is still living at the homestead with her son."

Their children were :

22. Samuel, b. 10 Sept., 1691, at Windham, m. Priscilla Bradford.†
23. Daniel, b. 16 Aug., 1694, at Windham, m. Abigail Wattles.†
24. Elijah, b. in 1705 at Lebanon, m. 1 Ruth Tracy, 2 Mercy Colman.†
25. Caleb, b. 9 April, 1699, at Windham, m. Mary Blackman.†
26. David, bap. 22 March, 1719, at Lebanon, m. Althea Bradford.†
27. Ebenezer, b. at Lebanon, m. 1 Dorothy Throop, 2 Elizabeth Graves.†
28. Sarah, b. 20 Dec., 1696, at Windham, m. Ebenezer Brown.†
29. Elizabeth, bap. 12 Dec., 1703, at Lebanon, m. Rev. Timothy Collins.†
30. Lydia, b. about 1710, at Lebanon, m. Jonathan Metcalf.†
31. Anne, b. at Lebanon, m. 1 Simon Gray, 2 Adonijah Fitch.†

III. JOHN HYDE (5), born at Norwich, Conn., in December, 1667, the second son of Samuel Hyde (2) and Jane Lee, was a grandson of the first William Hyde of Norwich. He m. 3 March, 1698, Experience Abel (98), born at Norwich in December, 1674, the second daughter of his first cousin Margaret Post (15) and Caleb Abel of Norwich. They settled at Norwich. He was a farmer and in 1719, he purchased a farm of Nathaniel Backus, at Wawecus Hill; which farm in 1859, was in the hands of some of the descendants of his granddaughter Zylpha Hyde (224), who m. James Rogers. John Hyde, died at Norwich 26 July, 1727. His wife survived him, and d. 24 Oct., 1763.

Their children were :

33. John, b. 5 Dec., 1698, at Norwich, m. 1 Sarah Haskins, 2 Elizabeth Backus.†
34. Eleazer, b. 12 Dec., 1704, at Norwich, m. Sarah Hewitt.†
35. James, b. 28 Feb., 1707, at Norwich, m. Sarah Marshall.†
36. Matthew, b. 28 April, 1711, at Norwich, m. 1 Elizabeth Huntington, 2 Hannah Pember.†
37. Experience, b. 7 Sept., 1700, at Norwich, m. Samuel Gifford.†
38. Margaret, b. 16 Aug., 1702, at Norwich, m. John Tracy.†
39. Esther, b. 16 Feb., 1709, at Norwich, m. Thomas Williams.†
40. Lucy, b. 16 April, 1713, at Norwich, m. Asa Waterman.†
41. Deborah, b. 22 Jan., 1716, at Norwich, m. Ebenezer Thomas.†

III. WILLIAM HYDE (6), born at Norwich, Conn., in Jan., 1670, the third son of Samuel Hyde (2) and Jane Lee, was a grandson of the first William Hyde of Norwich. He m. 2, Jan., 1695, Anne Bushnell, born 4 Dec., 1674, at Norwich, eldest dau. of Richard Bushnell, Esq., and Elizabeth Adgate of Norwich.

[This Richard Bushnell was one of the early magistrates of Norwich. He was b. at Saybrook in Sept. 1652, m. 7 Dec., 1672, at Norwich, his step sister Elizabeth Adgate, b. at Saybrook 10 October, 1651. He died at Norwich 27 August, 1727. His mother was Mary Marvin, b. in England in 1629, the second daughter of Matthew Marvin, one of the first settlers of Hartford; who came there from England, in 1635, and afterwards settled and died at Norwalk (see Hall's Hist. Rec. of Norwalk, 181). She m. 11 Oct., 1648, Richard Bushnell of Saybrook, and had by him two sons, and two daughters. 1. Joseph, b. in May, 1651, m. She m. 20 Oct., 1720, Dr. Theophilus Rogers, b. 4 Oct., 1699, at Lynn, Mass., the second son of Capt. Ezekiel Rogers and the widow Lois Bligh (né Ivory) of Lynn.

[This Capt. Ezekiel Rogers is supposed to have been the fifth in descent from the Rev. John Rogers the martyr, who was burned at Smithfield on the 4 Feb., 1555. It is well known that the martyr m. while in Antwerp, and had a large family of children, who, with their mother, were living at the time he was martyred. But whether he had nine or ten children has been for a long time a subject of dispute. One of his supposed descendants, in a communication to the New England Historic-Genealogical society, has shown, from the martyr's own declaration to the lord chancellor, when he was condemned, that he had ten children. He said: "My lord, I pray you to grant me one thing; that my poor wife, being a stranger, may come and speak with me so long as I live; for she hath ten children, which are hers and mine, and somewhat would I counsel her what it were best for her to do." (See 5 Gen. Register, 113.) Of these ten children, the christian names of only two have been ascertained by his supposed descendants in this country: Daniel, his eldest son, mentioned by Fox, the martyrologist, and the Rev. Richard Rogers, who was for many years the minister of Weathersfield in England, and died there, the father of the Rev. Ezekiel Rogers who came to America, and died here without issue.

Another son of the martyr, whose christian name is unknown, is said to have married, and with his wife died in early life, leaving a son, then in his minority, afterwards the Rev. John Rogers, the minister of Dedham in England, who died there in 1636. His son Nathaniel, by his second wife, Elizabeth Gold, born about 1598, at Haverill in England, was afterwards the minister of As-sington in Suffolk, England. He m. Margaret Crane, dau. of Robert Crane and Mary Sparhawk of Coggeshall in Essex, England. He came to America in 1636, and was subsequently settled as minister at Ipswich, Mass., and died there 3 July, 1655. His children were: 1. The Rev. John Rogers, who m. Elizabeth Denison of Ipswich, and was president of Harvard college. 2. Nathaniel, who died a bachelor. 3. Samuel, who married Judith Appleton, and afterwards Sarah Wade, and was town clerk of Ipswich. 4. Timothy, who was a merchant of Boston. 5. Ezekiel, who graduated at Harvard college in 1659, married Margaret Hubbard, widow of Thomas Scott of Ipswich, and was father of Capt. Ezekiel Rogers of Lynn, and of five other children. And 6. Margaret, who married the Rev. William Hubbard, minister of Ipswich, author of Indian Wars in New England, and who was temporary president of Harvard college in 1688. Since the above was written, the researches of Joseph L. Chester, Esq., have rendered it very doubtful whether Rev. John Rogers of Dedham in England was a descendant of John Rogers the martyr. See 17 Gen. Reg. 43.]

Dr. Theophilus Rogers studied physic and surgery, and practiced for a short time in Boston. He went from there to Norwich, Conn., in 1720, where he was a distinguished practitioner and an eminent citizen. He died at Norwich, 29 Sept., 1753. She survived him, and died there 24 Nov., 1753.

I have not been able to trace any of the children of Rhoda Collins (187), by either of her husbands, any further. I think it probable, that one of her sons by her first husband Joshua Hyde (153), may have settled at Sharon, Conn., and have been the father of Dan Hyde, Walter Hyde, and David Hyde, three of the early settlers of Auburn, N. Y., and of their sisters, Laura Hyde, who m. Daniel Kellogg, Esq., of Skaneateles, and Sarah Hyde, who m. Dr. Joseph Cole, of Auburn. I have not however been able to connect those Auburn Hydes, who I believe came from Sharon, either with Luther Hyde, or Joshua Hyde, the sons of Joshua Hyde and Rhoda Collins; or with David Hyde (158) the only child of David Hyde (26) and Alatheia Bradford of Lebanon. They may have been descended from Humphrey Hyde, who came from England, removed to Windsor, and settled at Fairfield in 1655.

She had previously separated from him, and was living with some of their children near Cooperstown. I have no further account of this Ebenezer Hyde, and his family, or of his descendants, except that William Lisk and wife had a son, Dan Lisk, who married and had a family. He may have been the husband of Abigail Waterman. (See No. 1403.)

I find no account of his children. Though I find that a John Brown m. 8 Aug., 1734, Ruth Rogers, of New London; and that Flavius Waterman, b. 17 Aug., 1736, m. Lydia Brown, a daughter of John Brown, and that some deeds of land passed between that John Brown and his son-in-law. "Stranger, behold this stone! beneath it sleeps,
 What once had animation, reason, life;
 And while, in vain, the eye of sorrow weeps,
 The sad heart rests, unvexed by earthly strife.

No more the smiles of joy shall light the face,
 Nor health's fair roses on the cheek shall bloom;
 Forever fled, the gaiety and grace
 Of sprightly youth—they shine not on the tomb.

No arms escutcheon'd on the humble stone,
 Reveal the titled greatness of the dead;
 To wealth, to fame, to grandeur, all unknown
 Was she, who slumbers in this silent bed.

What though no gath'ring crowds assemble 'round
 Her final home, or grac'd her funeral bier;
 Believe not that the undistinguish'd ground,
 Was never moistened by affection's tear.

For who so vile, so unbelov'd can live,
 So unlamented to the grave descend,
 That sympathy no tribute has to give;
 That dies not honored by some sorrowing friend."

He was the youngest son of Simon Wolcott, b. in 1625, at Tolland in Somersetshire, who was the youngest son of Henry Wolcott and Elizabeth Sanders of Tolland, and came to New England, with his parents, in 1630. The mother of Gov. Roger Wolcott, was Martha Pitkin, also born in England, a lady of great talents as well as beauty. The tradition is that she came to this country on a visit to her brother, William Pitkin, Esq., of East Hartford, intending to return to England. That the inhabitants of the colony were so much pleased with her, that they determined to prevent her return to England if possible. That the elegant and accomplished Simon Wolcott, a young widower, was selected to endeavor to persuade her to remain here and become his wife, and that he succeeded in doing so. They were m. 17 Oct., 1661, and had nine children. Henry Wolcott the progenitor of the Wolcotts of Connecticut, was a gentleman of education and wealth and had been a magistrate of Somersetshire in England. The Rev. Jonathan Parsons graduated at Yale College, in 1729. He was ordained and settled as the third minister of Lyme 17 March, 1731. He worked at a trade until he was twenty years of age. He studied divinity under the direction of the president, Elisha Williams, of Yale College, and the Rev. Jonathan Edwards of Northampton, Mass. He had a strongly marked character, which was written upon his countenance. Although his manners were easy and polished, his natural temper was hasty and cost him many struggles to keep it under. The Rev. George Whitfield was invited by him to occupy his pulpit at Lyme, which gave offense to many members of his church. The leaders in opposition to him were Edmund Dorr (who married his wife's aunt), Samuel Southworth, Timothy Mather and Josiah DeWolf; who were probably sustained by many of the neighboring clergy, who did not concur in the revival measures of the Rev. Mr. Whitfield. The result was that the Rev. Mr. Parsons took a dismission in October, 1745; and in March, 1746, he removed to and was settled as the first minister of the Presbyterian church at Newburyport, Mass., where his wife died 26 Dec., 1770. She was a very talented and accomplished lady; and it is said she sometimes wrote sermons for her husband. The Rev. George Whitfield died at their house at Newburyport, 30 Sept., 1770, and his remains were deposited in a vault under the pulpit of the church.

He was a most worthy, benevolent, and public spirited citizen, and d. 29 Dec., 1855, at Utica, beloved and lamented by a very large circle of relatives and acquaintances. His character is thus described by one who knew him well : " Protestant, as I am, by every association of my heart and memory, I bear this testimony to one who was ennobled by all the attributes of a Christian gentleman.

"An Irishman by birth — he was an American by adoption — and was a devoted Roman Catholic. Yielding profound respect for the laws that protected him and his ample property, he loved and cherished the country of his adoption, and at the same time exhibited a practical and consistent devotion to his own religious faith.

" He found no inconsistency in maintaining his own religious faith and performing his duties as an American citizen. He was emphatically an honest man and a sincere friend. There was a marked harmony in his whole character and conduct, which attracted the love and respect of all, and diffused around him a genial sympathetic influence of a lasting character.

"He removed to Utica when it contained less than 800 inhabitants, and at his death, must have been about the oldest resident of that now large and flourishing city. During the early period of his life, and before he became a large landholder, he was a merchant, and while such, was distinguished for integrity, industry, economy and accuracy. The mercantile companions of his day have mostly, with him, passed away; but it is in the recollection of the writer, that with one firm he had complicated transactions of millions, without even a difference of opinion or accounts. Mr. Devereux never accepted political distinction, although often requested so to do. His benevolence was practical and unostentatious, and thousands will mourn with drooping lids the passing away of the poor man's friend.

"His example is before our young men, native as well as adopted Americans. By obeying the laws, you discharge one of the highest duties of an American citizen; by consistency and integrity of conduct, you may have a name among the good and great, not only in active life, but when its activities are over." Y., 17 March, 1801, youngest daughter of Benjamin Walworth and Apphia (Hyde) Cardell, was a great granddaughter of William Hyde (6) of the third generation. She m. Charles Theodore Platt, b. 10 Oct., 1795, at Plattsburgh, N. Y., son of Theodore Platt, Esq., of Plattsburgh, by his first wife, Charity Peltz. He was then a midshipman, and was afterwards a master and commander in the United States navy. Was on board Commodore McDonough's flag ship, and engaged in the naval battle, on Lake Champlain, with the British fleet, on the 11 of Sept., 1814, and for his gallantry on that occasion, he was presented with a sword. He was almost constantly in service till near the close of his life.

In 1824-5, he held the command of the Beagle in the squadron of Commodore Porter, and engaged in unraveling the mysteries and suppressing the crimes of West India piracy. While thus employed, his men wasted away under the diseases of the tropics. His enduring constitution passed unscathed, while his decks were more than once desolated with the yellow fever. But the pestilence was not his only foe. Piracy was yet abroad. He tracked the miscreants to their retreats. He seized their coasters. He recovered valuable cargoes. He pressed upon their armed craft whenever they ventured out of port. He compelled them to abandon the seas. At last, chasing one of their vessels into Faxardo, a Spanish port on the north coast of Porto Rico, the authorities pretended to suspect him of feigning the rights of a naval officer, and proceeded to imprison him. Meantime, the piratical crew fled, and their booty was secreted. But the event proved that his daring had stabbed the iniquity to its heart. Commodore Porter came to his relief, and by this unmasking of the authority that had sheltered the piracies, accomplished their suppression. This will be pronounced one of the most useful, and therefore the most glorious of our naval achievements, when we recall the series of atrocities that had scourged our seas, and rendered the highways of the deep a terror to all but the full-armed mariners.

After subsequent services, as lieutenant in the Mediterranean squadron, he was, in 1829, acting as executive officer of the United States ship Fulton, then the receiving ship at Brooklyn navy yard. In the catastrophe of the 4 of June, when the magazine of this ship exploded, he received his most serious bodily injuries. With his face lacerated, his jaw broken, his shoulder maimed, the flesh torn from his limbs, and contusions blackening his body, life seemed scarcely to have a tenement left for itself; and, identified no longer by his visage, but by his uniform, he was laid and reported among the dead. * * The ravage of this nearly fatal disaster, left a sequel of disfigurement and pain that never forsook his frame. His days were undoubtedly shortened, as they were loaded with suffering in consequence of these wounds.

The total disability thus incurred did not long continue. His duties were again resumed, and after serving in various capacities, until 1857, he was placed upon the retired list. And the last two years of his life were passed at Newburgh, under frequent exhibitions of heart disease, and with constant sufferings, as the effect of the exposure and the wounds he had experienced. It was well remarked by the Rev. Dr. Henry, in the address made at his burial: "Under any other government upon the globe, an admiral's insignia, instead of a commander's epaulettes, would have been upon his coffin."

He d. 12 Dec., 1860, at Newburgh, N. Y.
